

Guttermouth, Room For Improvement

i will never be something other than a worthless mockery and when i look back i say never again but i seem to end up screwing myself more and more i just can't get it right, get it right

chorus:

i've been told before that i'm a loser heading for the door i can't believe that it's happening again and i found myself laying face down the floor
some thing come so easily but for me it's so hard to see i never get it right
