Gyroscope, Driving For The Storm

I mean you so much pain forever again Why for I can't explain We'll drive for the storm again Holding onto the scent Everything gets in the way in the way now everything gets in the way Everything gets in the way in the way now everything gets in the way I'll drive you sing the refrain forever again Our hi-beams cut the rain Let's drive for the storm again Smell distress through the vents Everything gets in the way in the way now everything gets in the way Everything gets in the way in the way now everything gets in the way Everything gets in the way in the way now everything gets in the way Everything gets in the way in the way now everything gets in the way Everything gets in the way in the way everything everything Everything gets in the way way way way