

H.E.R., The Journey

All the times you thought you'd never make it through Felt just like the world just turned its back on you
Didn't stop you
All the times you could've give in and you'd given up
Times you didn't know if you were strong enough
Still you got through

Somehow it's all part of the plan
The journey
The journey
The journey

It's the journey
It's the getting there to where you're going to
Going through hell but still you're gonna make it through
It's the fire that they can't put out inside
It's a hell of a ride

All the times they thought that they could hold you back
But you've always known there was no chance of that You're made too strong
And when you're going with your heart you can go
Further than you'd ever thought possible
Prove them all wrong

It's a part of the bigger plan
The journey
The journey
The journey

It's the journey
It's the getting there to where you're going to
Going through hell but still you're gonna make it through
It's the fire that they can't put out inside
It's a hell of a ride

Every step you take
Is one more step put on the way
On the journey
The journey
The journey, yeah

It's the journey
It's the getting there to where you're going to
Going through hell but still you're gonna make it through
It's the fire that they can't put out inside
It's a hell of a ride
It's the journey
It's the getting there to where you're going to
Going through hell but still you're gonna make it through
It's the fire that they can't put out inside
It's a hell of a ride
It's the journey
Oh, the journey