

H2O, Thicker Than Water

my family looks out for me, like friends our story never ends.
we've run into the fire and somehow water comes to save us. there are so few we can depend on,
with blood there is an honor.
we act like we don't care, but it's so deep inside it's more, more than you can see thicker than water
it means more, so much more to me
thicker than water
we've all been struggling since i was three how happy can we be?
we've turned some bad times into good always knowing where we stood now time has led us to the water we get by on h2o but we remember what is stronger and we let it flow
thicker than water
thicker than water
it runs so deep inside my veins through all the heartache and pain and everything i've come to be, its more than you can see (2x) thicker than water, means more to me (6x)
