

Haddaway, Waiting For A Better World

What ya gonna believe in
If you can't tell right from wrong?
Some TV-show is all you know
Don't ya care what's going on?
You're in touch with disaster
But you look the other way
Paralyzed by the other way
How you live everyday
So you'er waiting - You're waiting for a better world
You're just waiting - You're waiting for a better world

If you leave it how you found it
It will always be the same
The sinners take the prize
And the righteous take the blame
Better wake up your senses
Get your body on the road
There ain't no time for peace of mind
When the future might explode
But you're waiting - you're waiting for a better world
While you're waiting.