

Haemorrhage, Anatomized

Surgical dissection
On nameless remains
Weird tools cut asunder
Exposed insides

The nauseating stench
In the morgue
Is unbearably

Icecold cadavers
Spill their guts
On the table

Incised epigastrium
Ejecting curdled fluids
Extirpate the appendix
As gall-bladder erupts

Jigsaw amputate
Their rigid limbs
Drilling their wrists

Putrid anatomy
is clinically spoiled
by pathologists

Medical recipients
Full of bodily slugs
Pieces of the corpses
Rest in plastic bags
