

Haircut 100, Surprise Me Again

Well I remember the day when she said go away

I rearrange my hair

Well I can't take anymore

I bought some natural food

And then I fell on the floor

Well I can't take anymore

I need a change of address

By the way, why can't you smile

She said at first it was great

And in the middle I stayed

But at the end I was sick

I said I've got to get out quick

Then you suddenly smiled

You took me by surprise

You suddenly smiled

You took me by again

Well I remember the time

Wrapped up nice and cosy

She was washing my hair

Well I was thinking of midnight, falling in love

Watching the rain fall

When we relax I'm going to sleep on your chest

And listen to your beats

And let's go to Norway, live in rain and snow

And get totally depressed about nothing

At all really hello

Then you suddenly smiled

You took me by surprise

You suddenly smiled

You took me by again

You suddenly smiled

You suddenly smiled, again and again

You can't smile

Then you suddenly smiled

You took me by surprise

You suddenly smiled

You took me by again

You suddenly smiled

You suddenly smiled

You suddenly smiled

You suddenly smiled

You suddenly smiled

You suddenly smiled

You suddenly smiled

You suddenly smiled

You suddenly smiled

You suddenly smiled

You suddenly smiled

You suddenly smiled

You suddenly smiled

You suddenly smiled

You suddenly smiled

You suddenly smiled

You suddenly smiled

You suddenly smiled

You suddenly smiled

You suddenly smiled

You suddenly smiled

You suddenly smiled

You suddenly smiled

You suddenly smiled

You suddenly smiled

You suddenly smiled

You suddenly smiled

You suddenly smiled

You suddenly smiled
