

Hale-Bopp, Beyond Absentminded (Be Absentminded)

Every day
We become
Every hope that we've left behind
Who we are may be lost in the dreams we've had

Every day
(I'll sing a song)
We become
(I'll try and rhyme)
Every hope lost and left behind
(And still my words may fall behind)
Will we all make amends for the chance we had

At night you toss and turn around and wonder if it still
Will matter if it's wrong or right
But even if it's wrong, we can try another way
I can't wait

Time slipping by
In a dream on a drop of sunlight
Every beam is like a ride to distant worlds we travel to

Maybe you couldn't think of where to find
Those golden wings you bred for flight
Any day now a wind may bring them back again

While we all may pass the test
With these dreams I lay to rest
Just remember you're not alone
Just remember you're not alone