Hale-Bopp, Beyond Absentminded (Be Absentmin

Every day We become Every hope that we've left behind Who we are may be lost in the dreams we've had

Every day
(I'll sing a song)
We become
(I'll try and rhyme)
Every hope lost and left behind
(And still my words may fall behind)
Will we all make amends for the chance we had

At night you toss and turn around and wonder if it still Will matter if it's wrong or right But even if it's wrong, we can try another way I can't wait

Time slipping by In a dream on a drop of sunlight Every beam is like a ride to distant worlds we travel to

Maybe you couldn't think of where to find Those golden wings you bred for flight Any day now a wind may bring them back again

While we all may pass the test With these dreams I lay to rest Just remember you're not alone Just remember you're not alone