Halford Rob, Sun

I, want to steer for the sun For the day has begun It's saying, it's saying My, soul just wanted to freeze To collapse and to seize From the waiting You, know it matters to me That I have to rage free I was longing All that I feel is my soul I will never let go What I crave for All of the things that you need Are the things that you bleed Here 'em calling? And when the world becomes too much for me That's when I know that I can't stay I'm searching for my own serenity I know I have to get away I, want to steer for the sun For the day has begun Here it calling? It's calling...
