Halford Rob, Wrath of gods

White swords of blinding razor light

Blast round the earth

Validating with immortal strength

Courage of the brave

From the aftermath of dust and flames

Resilience soars

Upon the searing light's reflected blade

That guards and saves

The dark sky

The victims

The air is full of vengeance

From now on

No mercy

The wrath of God

Reins on you

These monuments of power and steel

Carved in each soul

Stand forever indestructible

For all mankind

The face of mighty nations liberty

In stoic resolve

For all the hated evil that men can do

Will be avenged

The dark sky

The victims

The air is full of vengeance

From now on

No mercy

The wrath of God

Reins on you

It's over

You're wasted

Now you're incinerated

In hell

I'll meet you

And once again

Defeat you

And though the light is dimmed to black someday

Inside it burns

A raging fire to virtues endless war

And freedom's cause

The dark sky

The victims

The air is full of vengeance

From now on

No mercy

The wrath of God

Reins on you

It's over

You're wasted

Now you're incinerated

In hell

I'll meet you

And once again

Defeat you
