

Halfwayhome, I Can't Hear You Whisper

These nights are getting longer by the day every hour that we waste is an eternity alone hold fast, we're inviting our collapse and our house of cards can't stand up on it's own why must we burn our hands a thousand times before we ever learn that there are reasons we react pulling strings that hold the stars up coaxing down the angels from on high coaxing down but not quite automatic just keep driving, just keep driving never think to fall asleep I wouldn't think the night would leave you wanting and when we make it home fragile thoughts won't be alone don't just wave goodbye as you go I can't feel at all
I can't hear you whisper
I've never seen such indecision here we go to lock ourselves away this frustration's got us hanging but our fingernails gravity is taking over you be sane and I'll be sober our prize won't be better in the end it's another season passed and we won't get the chance again why must we burn our hands a thousand times
that there are reason we react pulling strings that hold the stars up
I can't feel at all
I can't hear you whisper
I've never seen such indecision
here we go to lock ourselves away don't brace for rain it's not too late, but that's not what they'll tell me don't race for pain don't leave well enough alone or make the same mistakes we promised ourselves we'd know much better I can't feel at all
I can't hear you whisper
