Hall & Oates, Room To Breathe

All you want is the shadow behind me Don't you know that it's nowhere to stand What if I didn't call you tomorrow Maybe you'd fall apart after that You keep it so tight I can't stand it There's no room for love when it's ended So give me Room to Breathe The choice to stay or leave I don't know what you need So give me Room to Breathe If you keep in your mind there's no future It makes now' so much lighter to bear If you deal with it ever so loosely You just might shake it, it might clear the air You keep it so tight I can't stand it There's no room for love when it's ended
