

Halo, Half Formed Thoughts

I break through your skin
A hole enough to let me in
I ride, through your veins
And try to make it to your brain

These things sound appealing to me
So what are you doing to me
For all this I love you completely

If I, could be King
Of everyone and everything
I'd buy, you a smile
The only fashion out of style

These things sound appealing to me
So what are you doing to me
For all this I love you completely
For all this I love you completely

All my lines are down
I feel,
Help me out of this ordeal

These things sound appealing to me
So what are you doing to me
For all this I love you completely
For all this I love you completely