

Halou, Shameless

I am so perfectly clumsy and lonely
And i'm chained to the fear of what i think you think
Like it's always about me
So i take a deep breath as i walk in the party
And forget that i never wear the right thing

Just pretend you're someone else
That you're gorgeous and shameless
Just pretend you're someone else
That you're perfect and shameless
And you'll say

"so maybe i'm ugly i'm just like this
Maybe i'm me i won't change it
Do you think you can love me regardless
Shameless and fabulous"

I'm free from the burden of the world's opinion
And i'm free for tonight of what i think of me
But just for the moment
I really had ought to get out more often
I could quickly get used to feeling like this