

Hammerfall, The Dragon Lies Bleeding

Ride through the valley in thunder and rain the battle is raging, redeem this domain
The Castle of Eden lies silent above darkness surrounded us, away we must go

I look through the eyes of the world
I see there's a Stranger among us.
Awaiting a sign from above to conquer the power and the glory

Enter the battle, our will to enchain bringing us forward, defeating the pain into the meeting with swords made of steel we're standing together the secret reveals
I look through the eyes of the world

I know who's the Stranger among us
Awaiting a sign from above to conquer the power and glory Come across to the Promised Land
close your eyes, I will take your hand
Through the river of steel we'll go
When the dragon lies bleeding

Above the glory we'll carry on now the time has come to return back home
The setting sun illuminates the dead the battlefield field is shining red.

Silent lies Eden on top of the moor we're fighting with honor protecting our Lord The last one survivor lies bleeding. I kneel into his heart I settle the steel

I look through the eyes of the world
there is no stranger among us.
We march to the end of the world in search for the power and the glory

Come across to the Promised Land
Through the river of steel we'll go
When the dragon lies bleeding
