

Hammerfall, Warriors Of Faith

They search the desert plains in the land of no return To seek out the danger, time to burn

They are the righteous ones they've come to claim this land Like warriors under command

They fight for gold and glory proclaim the dead man's land Into the dungeons they must go to find the answers, left untold

Under the burning sun in danger, eye to eye
They all now that someone must die

Into the well they're falling past immortality Led by temptation and devotion rendered deathless by the touch of the sword

Onwards victory, let us hear your battle cry
the enemies, will renounce or die
Hail the Warriors Of Faith

Together they march through the fire Forever they're lost in this world

Onwards victory, let us hear your battle cry
the enemies, will renounce or die Eternally, they will fall under the sign of victory, fighting all for one Hail the the Warriors Of Faith