

Hangnail, The Sleeping Giant

Picture perfect ending should come as no surprise
We've watched the same bland story for all our lives
Flipping through the channels is such a waste of time
We hurry to the movies to get in line
And When the glowing glory is gone we make our way back to face the real world we try to clear the smoke from our eyes

No we can't live without it on
We can't live with out it It's hard to see the damage done
We can't live with out it can we

We don't care the meaning the sense the T.V. brings even when it's sex that sells us everything If there is one thing learned from this mock reality, it's give me, serve me first, a selfish vain philosophy

Just know life is broken in Hollywood, life is broken Take you chance, you take your chance
