

Hank Locklin, Welcome Home Mr. Blues

There is someone at the door guess I'd better go see
Who'd be comin' round at this hour callin' on me
Why of course I might have known should have been expecting you
Come on in and sit right down now why hello Mr Blues
I'll have to say you didn't waste a minute getting here to me
I guess you knew that I was lonely and I needed company
I've got to tell how much I love her and how bad I've been abused
And you're the only one who listen so come in Mr Blues
For a while that she was with me I guess she'd found another friend
And when she left I knew that you will soon be coming back again
I planned nothing for this evening come on in take off your shoes
We're gonna have ourselves a party welcome home Mr Blues
