

Hank Snow, Conscience I'm Guilty

Oh conscience I'm guilty I'm guilty again

Now I'm driving home slowly my spirit's so low
I cheated on her again and why I'll never know
I hope I don't look too guilty when she lets me in
Oh conscience don't ever let me do that again

Oh conscience I'm guilty and I must confess
Why I kissed her I knew I love the other one best
I've been out with an old flame who's heart's full of sin
Oh conscience don't ever let me do that again

[ piano - guitar ]

Between right and the wrong the love and desire
This game that I'm playing more dangers than fire
I might talk in my sleep or be caught by her friend
Oh conscience don't ever let me do that again
Oh conscience I'm guilty...
