Hank Thompson, Anybody

ANYBODY'S GIRL Writers Hank Thompson, Billy Gray

Where there's dim lights and there's liqueur, they'll find you each night The jukebox will be playing your favorite song tonight You're the loneliest fool that's living in your make believe world You're a honky tonk sweetheart and anybody's girl Though you chose the life that lead you to sorrow and shame Each shoulder that you cry on, you swear that I'm to blame You gave up the one that loved you to live in your sorted world You're a honky tonk sweetheart and anybody's girl You can't say I didn't love you as you're crying in your beer You drink to every heartache and wish that I was near With each drink you passion surges and start your head to whirl You're a honky tonk sweetheart and anybody's girl I don't understand your feelings but emotions are strange things Why you gave up the life your leading and gave up your wedding ring You flaunt your charms and beauty and toss your pretty curls You're a honky tonk sweetheart and anybody's girl You're a honky tonk sweetheart and anybody's girl