

Hank Williams Jr., All I Can Give You Is My Heart

Let's take the final step and get married cause a true love is all I'm looking for
Well I hope someday that I'll make you a million
Cause right now all that I can give you is my heart
But I've got two arms that were made just to hold you tight
And a real love to keep you satisfied
And I've got two lips that are just for kissing yours goodnight
And these two eyes that will never see you cry
I'd like to give you diamond rings from the start
But right now all that I can give you is my heart
Your love can't be bought for any price I know
Though I'd give anything to call you mine
But thank God you want me for just what I am
Cause right now all that I can give you is my heart
Right now all that I can give you is my heart
