

Hank Williams Jr., I Can't Cry Back In

Well somebody's hurtin' and I know why
And he's a livin' in torment from a love that won't die
He thought it was funny when she walked out on him
Now the love that he laughed out he can't cry back in
He faces the sunrise and prays for the night
And when the darkness gets around him then he prays for the light
His mixed up emotions just keep choking him
Cause the love that he laughed out he can't cry back in Now you've heard the story of one foolish man
By now you know it's me so give me some pitty if you can
I know it's all over but when will it end
This love that I laughed out I can't cry back in
The love that I laughed out Lord I can't cry back in