

Hank Williams Jr., Your Love's Like A Stranger

Like a lamp in the corner like a rug on the floor
I'm taking for granted like the waves to the shore
Though you say that it's over and you walk out the door
Your love's like a stranger I've never met before
But today you're as sweet as can be but tomorrow you won't even notice me
Now I'm goin' crazy my heart's all turned around
Your love's like an ocean I may swim or I may drown
But I'm gonna stop trying cause I can't take no more
Your love's like a stranger I've never met before
But today you're as sweet...
