

Hank Williams, You Caused It All By Telling Lies

[G] When you're alone and blue tonight my little [C] darlin'
And you're [G] pillows stained with tears from your blue [D] eyes
I'm so [G] sorry dear to say we're not [C] together
But you [D] know you caused it all by telling [G] lies

[G] Now I know I'll never find another [C] sweetheart
When you [G] left I hung my head down and I [D] cried
But we [G] quarled and now we're through my little [C] darlin'
And you [D] know you caused it all by telling [G] lies

[G] We were happy, oh so happy little [C] darlin'
And our [G] little home was like a [D] paradise
But [G] today you're all alone and broken [C] hearted
And you [D] know you cause it all by telling [G] lies

[G] Now I know I'll never find another [C] sweetheart
When you [G] left I hung my head down and I [D] cried
But we [G] quarled and now we're through my little [C] darlin'
And you [D] know you caused it all by telling [G] lies
