Hanoi Rocks, Don't You Ever Leave Me

The nights are wearing me down
And it`s hard getting through the day
`Cos I need you right now
And right now you`re so faraway
I guess I should have known
That I`d end up this way
But I swear I`ll come home
And then nothing will drag me away
Don`t you ever leave me baby
Don`t you ever leave me now
Don`t you ever leave me baby
If you leave me you will kill me now
Now that some much time has passed
I know that this love of ours will last forever
Cos we feel it, take it, hold it and believe it
You need me like I need you
I know you do, I'm sure you do
The lights are slowly going down
On Lexington Avenue
And me, I`m all alone feeling the tears falling down from my eyes
A subway train is passing by Driving into the Darkness
I jump inside `cos I ain`t got nowhere to sleep tonight
Don`t you ever leave me baby
Don`t you ever leave me now
Don`t you ever leave me baby
If you leave me you will kill me now
I was forcing myself just walk through the day
When all I really wanted to do was curl up in a corner and cry
Nothing had any meaning
And I just thought let's give it another day and see if anything happens
Then you came along like my own ray of sunshine
Made me feel warm, safe and alive again