

Hanson, Never Love Again

Just a simple conversation
But I've memorized each line
The way you hold your head when you're smiling
Gets me every time

Though you take my breath away
There's one thing I have to say
I'll never love again

I tore up all the letters that you wrote me
I packed up all your things
But I can't stop myself from hoping
When the telephone rings

It's funny how I feel this way
And all that's left to say
I'll never love again
I'll never love again

If I had won the world
And angel wings unfurled
And came down by my side
I'd give it all away for just a single day
That I could use to change your mind

So when I see you next time
Please don't cause a fuss
Cause I still haven't told all my friends
About the two of us

All of this is yesterday
And all that there is left to say
I'll never love again
I'll never love again
I'll never love again

I will never love again
