

Happy Campers, Voices

I hear voices in my mind, voices from the past that always seem to find, seem to find thier way, way into my head, whispering to me what other people said, said to me, I try to ignore, ignore what they say, but these voices they won't go away

These voices they come from all around tell me how to live, try to bring me down, down to Earth, but Earth is so boring, they don't want me to hope, and dont want me to dream,dreams are a waste of time, time is running out, that's what they say I try to ignore, but they won't go away

I hear voices, voices in my heart, that tell me not to stray, stray from the path, the path I wanna take, take what I want, want out of life, life that is mine do what I feel is right, the voices are still there,but what they try to say I will ignore, I will make them go away
