Happy Head, Atomic Candy

(Carl L. Marsh) plough up a field of money scatter your seed mind over matter? well it matters to me candy riding an ark political sparkle cast the first stone you'll be making a mark indeed there goes caution to the wind again so get in hitch-hike it to the edge of beyond and get gone at the limit of the evening shade i raise a glass to you candy i think you've got it made if you thing the future lies in tomorrow's troubled eyes you're wrong candy it lies with me atomic candy...turn out all the lights and let me see atomic candy...incandescent flame of liberty atomic candy...i'll take one bite out of you if you unwrap me high on the stuff of legend scoring the dream richer for poorer you can pour it all over me catching a wave imaginary saviour take the next turn candy there'll be some days indeed if you feel the future near hiding paralysed with fear it's ok candy you're here with me atomic candy atomic candy oh if you thing the future waits through somebody's pearly gates hold on candy and wait for me
