

Hard Rain, No One Can Show You The Way

You hide your love like secrets
Oh, so deep inside, don't let them go
'Cause when the rain kissed your lips
Not just once but time and time again
So now you pray but no one listens
Don't you hesitate, oh no, don't you be a runaway
So you just pray for something different
The love we take and all the vows we break

No one can show you the way
When love is hard to find
And no one can hear what you say
It's all in your own mind
Now everything's too much
There's nothing you can trust
Ain't no one can show you the way
The time, the place, the day

It's cold, the midnight wind blows
So you light a fire and burn the dead
While you play your music real low
You get lost in dreams, you fear to tread
And now you pray there ain't no witness
Maybe it's your fate, who knows, maybe you won't get away
So you just pray this dirty business
Of love and hate won't be so hard to face

No one can show you the way
When love is hard to find
And no one can hear what you say
It's all in your own mind
Now everything's too much
There's nothing you can trust
Ain't no one can show you the way
The time, the place, the day
