

Harmful, 1 Lifetime

Tears in my eyes? I'm down again You're telling me nothing? but where is the end
Deep in the hole I can't find a different soul Your miracle overload
What if what is isn't true? Does that mean we've got to loose
I keep on losing you and finding you It's better to stay on your own
My time is having its way with me I'm living a lie to move on
I don't know anything about the day after, let's keep on and we will see
I may come up with a tremendous disaster but you can always count on me
I close my eyes? you're so beautiful Who am I to need you when I'm down again
Confused and denied I don't want to pretend to know where it begins and where it ends
I don't know anything about the day after, let's keep on and we will see
I may come up with a tremendous disaster but you can always count on
