

Harmful, No Matter

Can't make it last forever, it's not my first mistake Be aware I will be waiting? you will move on instead
There's nothing else to offer? no matter what you'll say Gotta choose from a million choices? I will
You might wonder why it's got to be so hard again? the more you change, the less you feel Tears dry on a rude awakening and will collide with hate You never know when to go or when to come
No thanks for everything, no matter what you'll say There are so many things to learn? lie down and
You might wonder why it's got to be so hard again? the more you change, the less you feel