

Hay & Stone, Sun Sweeps the Shadow

How I heard you call, after the ten long years

Two brothers, two separate ways one to light one to the dark

And you know, the day I heard you fall has been haunting up this day

Sun it makes the shadow sweep through my soul, and through the days
of past

Sun it makes the shadow sweep through my soul, and through the touch
shine

Why you carry memories cause we can't take but what we need?

There was a laugh, there was a cry, a silent prayer in the night

And you know, all else I find indifferent but those words still ring true

Sun it makes the shadow sweep through my soul, and through the days
of past

shine

You are not all alone,

You are not all alone

I'm not all alone

In the dark

Sun it makes the shadow sweep through my soul, and through the days
of past

shine
