

Heart, How Can I Refuse

wake me up with laughter wrap me in your arms this aint no morning after never been so warm
it didn't take so long
for us to feel this way can a good thing last longer than a day?

where do we take it now
now that we caught fire?
will something greater grow
out of this desire?
should i drop my guard
at the risk of being used?
but the way you do those things to me
how can i refuse?

I could get addicted
to your energy
the way you take me over pulling on me
our hearts beat together our timing is the same
can i trust my feelings save myself the pain?

Where do we take it now
now that we caught fire?
will something greater grow
out of this desire?
should i drop my guard
at the risk of being used?
but the way you do those things to me
how can i refuse?

We could share they mystery spare ourselves the misery discover it again every day we could take love all the way

where do we take it now
now that we caught fire?
will something greater grow
out of this desire?
should i drop my guard
at the risk of being used?
how can i refuse?
