Her Space Holiday, Hassle Free Harmony

On my way to an early grave I stopped some where along the way In hopes to learn my name We all have lives that we must leave some are great and some are weak I'm somewhere in between

I used to think the world was round until I filled my head with sound And pictures of a place where I was good and wrong was right And nothing kept me up at night except the songs we made

We all have lives that we must leave some are great and some are weak I'm somewhere in between
