

Hiding With Girls, Marty Mcfly

It was the end of last year when I saw this movie with you in,
It was a winter night as I recall dreamin' of the sky
But all this time she wished for something more
Than to earn a life and keep it for herself

And I swear I'll be that guy who wanted the same
I never wanted change, so just keep us apart

And it's just a one night thing so sit back down again
Yeah, you heard me
But can I be the one who breaks it down for you?

It was at the movies when she heard this piece of good advice
It was an old romance as I recall dreaming of jealousy
But her name was pure and spoke of something more
Than a wish for blue that she keeps to herself

And I swore I'd be the guy who wants you the same
I never asked for change... never
Yeah, there's so much here to save if you never ask for rain
So just keep us apart...

No, I never asked for rain tonight at all...
Now you'll never be the same
I want it, I need it so read it...
You want it? You need it?... So be it.

Don't ask me why I wish that I - and I hope that I - cannot leave tonight
Always be true to the oceans blue, here's to the truth you told
The day we fell apart
