

Highwater Rising, The Waiting

You should have given it up as it is it's not an acceptable way to be you're so busy shining your light overthere that you can't see clearly your house has taken an uncomfortable feeling and I find myself at home you find it easier to complain then you do it all over again it's already begun
this waiting's gonna kill you
and even if you say
you'll pick it up
I can't stand and wait
for you to fill my cup
it's the world that's surrounding you moving all around you watching the days go by watching the days waiting for better days just waiting you've been sitting down so long just think of what you're doing I think if you could only find your hands you could go somewhere you have me but you don't care and it's not fair
it's already begun
this waitings gonna kill you
and even if you say
you'll pick it up
I can't stand and wait
for you to fill my cup
it's the world that's surrounding you
moving all around you
watching the days go by watching the days pass you by