

Highway 101, I've Got Your Number

Now word's around you're back in town and headed for my heart
I'm not the same I'm one old flame that you ain't gonna start
There ain't no doubt the fire went out when you broke this heart in two
So honey, don't call me til I call you You know

I've got your number But your phone ain't gonna ring off the wall
Because I've got your number and honey, that's the reason I won't call.

Well you left me with a memory that'll live on 'til I die
I got burned but I have learned mistakes can make you wise
What you've done is taught me one of life's own bitter truths
Now I know I can't count on you because

Honey, that's the reason I won't call
