

Hikaru Utada, This One (crying Like A Child)

How can I put this, I, I, I
I'm an independent woman, I
I've been crying like a child
I just wanted you to know the person that I am
More than any other of your fans
I will love you for a thousand years
Yours truly
I ain't gonna play it cool
Let me tell you I've tried that already
Every day and every night
Your words ring through me
Who am I trying to fool
Honey, I've been living on my own like Freddie
But I'm still a woman
Baby, tell me how
How could I ever love another
How could you say you don't remember
God knows I'd give anything
For just one more night together
Today I miss you more than ever
How could you say you don't remember
This one's for the happiness
I'll be wishing you forever
It's just another Friday night
For you and your accessories
And there you are before my eyes
Two hours and for fifteen minutes you are here
I don't want to scream least I should hear
A whisper in the darkness disappear
Sincerely
We should get back on the road
Like Simon and Garfunkle
Let's get married
You are all the shelter that I need above me
Who am I trying to fool
Honey, I've got your ringtone on my Blackberry
And I won't give a damn
If only I knew how
How could I ever love another
How could you say you don't remember
God knows I'd give anything
For just one more night together
Today I miss you more than ever
How could you say you don't remember
This one's for the happiness
I'll be wishing you forever
You've got me crying like a child
Ain't no need for me to lie
A hundred jpeg files
Filling up my hard drive
You've got me crying like a child
And the crowd is going wild
This one, this is the one
Come on and give it up
How could I ever love another
How could you say you don't remember
God knows I'd give anything
For just one more night together
Today I miss you more than ever
How could you say you don't remember
This one's for the happiness
I'll be wishing you forever
How could I ever love another
How could you say you don't remember

God knows I'd give anything
For just one more night together
Today I miss you more than ever
How could you say you don't remember
This one's for the happiness
I'll be wishing you forever