

Himsa, Groud Breaking Ceremony

Now the buildings go
Back to where they came from by natural overthrow
Trees and stone are eternal
Empires come and go
Now we have a better view of the mountains
They are so much more majestic
Than the kingdom
Now we do not have to crawl all over each other in traffic for a view
We can all see first we laid our foundation down here on fault
What the fuck were we thinking
All the sages
Who were locked up in cages
Have come to reclaim this throne
Let these animals roam
To trample those monuments and everything they hold sacred
Castles that crumble hold no value in their place
Where the earth shakes from the herds of elephants
Marching into battle singing
"Ohm na ma shivaya Ganesha, Ganesha"
New lights needs room to run freely
Without all of these obstacles taking up so much space
The old crowd is breaking up and the old ground is breaking up
To make way for a change