

Hissyfits, Today Is The Day

And today is the day a brand new star appeared in the sky
And today is the day a little sparrow learned to fly
And today is the day all the children started to sing
And today is the day all the church bells started to ring

And today, the sun shined brightly up above
And today, my broken heart was filled with love
And today is the day all the raindrops turned into pearls
Cause today is the day that you came into my world

And today is the day a sleeping flower started to grow
And today is the day an empty river started to flow
And today is the day that faded colors seemed so bright
And today is the day suddenly everything felt right

I'm so glad that you came into my world...