

Hocico, Beings Of Relief

I'm taking flight
I know how they feel,
I feel their deep sorrow I'll breathe into their minds until their suffering falls away.

Things I see through their eyes thoughts are naked in their conscience they're screaming inside soul with no edges, beings steep in fear.

People say we are angels even if they've never seen us we are the beings of redemption we are the beings who are here to show them light and heal inside.

We don't live without them, without them we don't have We don't have a place on earth There'll be a place to meet each other when you let go and come to our dimension.
