

Holden Avenue, Words

Everybody's making so much noise
Pollute the air
With dirty words
Just take a listen
To the smashing sound
Of people talking lies
Same old story again
I talk, you talk
I talk again
But no one's listening
I use my scream
It's not louder than a whisper
Your ears keep avoiding my words
Why not make a change
A little shift of roles
And our words won't hit the void
