Holly Dunn, Don't Break The Wings

Walkin' a fine line down love's scary road When do I hold on when do I let go Looking back at mistakes I've made so much I would change Cause I know how I see now it's such a simple thing

Don't break the wings of the one you love help him learn to fly Tenderly set him free it just might last a lifetime Yeah if you try to hold too tight it just might be too much Don't break the wings of the one you love

Doesn't matter whose wrong or right just make room for love You can never get enough or give too much It's a little like dancin' sometimes fast sometimes slow It just took time for me to find just how it goes

Don't break the wings of the one you love... (guitar)
Don't break the wings of the one you love...