

Holly Palmer, You Help Me

Lately I've been feeling so out of control Don't know who I am Swinging like a pendulum One day I'

I'd point my finger at you
And say that you're to blame
But I know it's my sad game
I got these two sides fighting in me
Guess everybody has
One side is courage the other's mad
And when that one wins
And I'm not in my skin
You help me
Whoever I am
You help me

I wanna love like I've never loved before
Wanna see the world
I want the heart and the soul and all of the dreams
That I had as a little girl
Why's it so tough to wake myself up?

I'd point my finger at you
And say that you're to blame
But I know it's my sad game
I got these two sides fighting in me
Guess everybody has
One side is courage
The other's mad
And when that one wins
And I'm not in my skin
You help me
Whoever I am
You help me

Never never let me down
Never never fool around
No one's ever loved me like you do

Now tell me something would you baby?
How could you know what to do when you do what you do?
Always in the right way on the right day
When I look at you I know why I know what I know how I know where I know you from and I'm not g