

Honestly, Always Alone

If it's what you want
Give it up
If it's what you think that you need
Well it's not enough
You try to be everything to everyone
Why can't you see
What you've become has made you numb
To everything you need
Every day is the rest of your life
And who are you if you won't ever look inside?
Are you ever gonna let it all go?
You're always changing
Always alone
Do you ever stop to wonder why
You hide yourself between the lines
It's all a lie
You try to be everything to everyone
Why can't you see
What you've become has made you numb
To everything you need
Every day is the rest of your life
And who are you if you won't ever look inside?
Are you ever gonna let it all go?
You're always changing
Always alone
You're wasting my time
You're wasting my time
You kill yourself by only getting by
You try to be everything to everyone
Why can't you see
What you've become has made you numb
To everything you need
Every day is the rest of your life
And who are you if you won't ever look inside?
Are you ever gonna let it all go?
You're always changing
Always alone
Every day is the rest of your life
And what are you
You just won't ever take a look inside
Are you ever gonna let it all go?
You're always changing
Always
You're always changing
Always
You're always changing
Always alone