

Honeydogs, Hearts And Heads

I was a ticket out of boredom
I was something to do with your hands and mouth
You made, a fair-handed catch
You raised the house when you struck the match

You fooled us all
In hearts and heads
You fooled us all
It starts in bed

In with the old
Out with the young
I'm forgiven
Just like a dog

You fooled us all
In hearts and heads
You fooled us all
It starts in bed

Words that I'd long forgotten
Now you're holding over my head

I was a ticket out of boredom
I was something to do with your hands and mouth
Loose ends were never tied
It's not like, I never tried

You fooled us all
In hearts and heads
You fooled us all
It starts in bed

You fooled us all
In hearts and heads
You fooled us all
It starts in bed
