

Honeyrods, I'd Rather

(R.J. Johnson/The Honeyrods)

What was it that you wanted me to say didn't matter cause the bank didn't trust you and then you threw it all away didn't matter anyway

Oh no did you
go with a gun
through the door to the second floor and then you couldn't have asked for more

What was it that you wanted me to do all the money in the world couldn't help you but you tried a time or two then its over way too soon

Oh no did you
go with a gun
through the door to the second floor
and then you couldn't have asked for more

I'd rather die than keep you alive I'd rather drown than feel this way