

Hootie & The Blowfish, One Love

Sunshine, on the horizon
Over two young lovers, while it's going down
Somewhere, the same sun rising
On another two lovers, as the world goes 'round

Same scene played over and over
Same sweet passion, same warm blood
Softly speaking the universal language
So many lovers, one love

[Chorus:]
One love might make the difference (One Love)
Might take the walls and tear them down
One light might keep on shining (One Love)
If we take one love and we spread it around

Old religions, new generations
Caught in a struggle about a righteous way
Can't see the forest for all the frustrations
So many lyin', so many dyin'
But only one love

[Chorus]
Too many stories, weave a common thread
Too many roads traveled, all reach the same end

Same scene play's over and over now
Same young passion, same red blood
Universal language goes unspoken
Too much hatred, too much hatred now
But only one love

[Chorus]

[Repeat]

Sunshine, on the horizon
Over two young lovers, while it's going down
