

Hopesfall, The End Of An Era

"my searching eyes have never been so intrigued to see you go i guess you found a way to make ten minutes last forever with each passing moment we drift further away closer to our chosen paths but i can't help remembering what was... what might have been but i have been warned by those who have passed this way before and to them i am grateful and as for you, i am also grateful and i pray you find the peace you've been longing for"